

Restorative Practice: Part of a Trauma-Informed Classroom Strategy

SAVE THE DATE

Tuesdays
Sept. 5 and 12
6:00-8:00 pm

Click HERE
or scan to register

OR

Saturday
September 23
10 am-2 pm

Click HERE
or scan to register

SESSION TRAINER

KATHY ORR

Executive Director of Peaceful Households
Child Advocate, Researcher,
Consultant, Speaker,
Educator, Mother, and Grandmother

ABOUT THE SESSION

Joint Initiatives for Youth + Families is offering a NEW learning session presenting the connection between trauma-informed practices and the five principles of restorative practice (relationship, respect, responsibility, repair, and reintegration). Session will focus on the following:

- Understanding the role of trauma
- Building community in the classroom
- Development of healthy relationships

Designed especially for early childhood educators, this training will benefit center-based directors and staff, family child care providers, paraprofessionals, and anyone working with young children.

WHAT YOU WILL LEARN:

- Childhood adversity and trauma, trauma-informed practice, including restorative justice practices
- How safety and supportive learning environments support relationship building
- How to support healthy development, including empathy
- How circles can be used to promote the development of core strengths and skills for resolving conflict

Register for either session – Zoom info provided upon registration.